HomeServer QuadClient Plugin

Compatibility: GIRA or Feller HomeServer | Version: Expert 4.11 and 4.12

The HomeServer QuadClient Plugin for Multiuser 3.0 visualizes the operation of the Revox Multiuser 3.0 system in the QuadClient.

Users, user favorites, rooms and zones are displayed in clearly arranged lists and can be easily selected and operated.

Detailed installation instructions including clear images can be found on our support page or downloaded here.

This plugin is only available in conjunction with the purchase of a Smart Home License (250,- €). See below for more information on how to order the license.

Smart Home License

The Smart Home License allows KNX and Smart Home plugins/modules to access a Multiuser 3.0 server. This does not apply to the Revox Multiuser 3.0 KNX Gateway, which also works without a Smart Home License. The license is generated by Revox on a device-specific basis and can be entered in the Device Service in the Multiuser 3.0 Configurator. The Multiuser Server then allows communication with a plugin or module. In terms of functional principle, entering the Smart Home License is identical to entering an additional user license on a V400 Multiuser Server.

For multiserver solutions, i.e. multiuser systems with several servers, only one Smart Home License is required. This means that you need only one Smart Home License in the system, even if several STUDIOMASTER M300/M500 or V400 are integrated.

Important note: the option to enter the Smart Home License in the Multiuser 3.0 Configurator will only appear with the next Multiuser update. Until then, the HomeServer plugin will also work without a valid Smart Home License. Keep the license key and enter it in the Configurator immediately after the next update, otherwise communication between the Multiuser System and Smart HomeServer will be suppressed. We will explicitly point this out again in the upcoming Multiuser Update Newsletter.

New ordering process, licenses in the Revox Online Shop

We have noticed that the Deezer streaming service no longer works on our Joy music systems.

(Note: this does not affect the STUDIOMASTER and STUDIOART products)

We suspect a changeover and encryption on the part of Deezer.

There is currently no official response from Deezer.

We therefore recommend that you advise customers to use the Bluetooth option in conjunction with the native Deezer app on a smartphone/tablet in order to continue using Deezer as a source.

In order to best assist Joy customers who have been using Deezer, we offer support from our Revox support department.

If Joy customers contact you about the Deezer issue, please refer them directly to our customer support:

Tel: +49 7721 8704 33 | Mail: support@revox.com

We will then take care of these inquiries.
